

WINN ARCHERY SIZING INFORMATION

We have spent a considerable amount of time analyzing the wrong size returns for the first two years of the online retail store. The previous 35 years we were distributor oriented so there was no input back to us. Wrong size orders are a pain and cost you and us time and money. The guidelines below reflect what we found to be the cause of most, if not all, wrong size orders. Use this information below, look at the sizing chart and let common sense find your correct size.

Because of the differences in hand thickness, hand length, thumb position and wrist diameter, there are no given dimensions that can be strictly followed. Use the dimension given as a reference to point you to the correct size and not a defining factor. In almost 40 years no one here can recall a shooter that could not find a size to fit.

#1 In the first two years since we opened the online store only "one" returned a release because the size ordered was too "small". All but that one, for whatever reasons, ordered a size to "large".

54% ordered X-large needing a large
45% ordered Large needing a medium
1% ordered medium needing a small

#2 When ordering for themselves, there has not been one Free Flight returned for wrong size from a lady shooter. They all fit to a size small. Very few men need a small, so when a ladies name is on the order and it is for a M, LG, or even XL we have to surmise it is a lady ordering for a husband, son or friend. Lady's this "does not" work and it causes a large portion of wrong sizes ordered. So Lady's when your husband, son or friend asks you to order a Free Flight for them, Say, "No I cannot do it, you have to read this and figure out what size you need yourself". Having talked to many of you ladies about a return, I can tell you are the ones standing in line at the post office.

#3 Size Large versus X large. Some of you have big hands, very large hands, even huge hands. You can't even get a pair of X Large work gloves on. Even a XX Large pair of work gloves are tight. Free Flights size "large" covers all hands up to size "XXX". Most all size XXX Free Flight's are bought to be worn over a thick XL or XXL cold weather glove on an extra large hand. Or, if you are large enough to be an NFL defensive lineman, you need an XXX Large.

#4 Size medium versus Large. if you think you are in between a size medium or real close to a size large, order the medium. The Free Flight needs to be on the tight side. This allows it to form to the contours of your hand and grip, if it is to big it cannot.

X SMALL - Child's hand usually through ten years. If the Child's hand is at all above average for the age go to size SMALL. X SMALL is for a the very small hand.

SMALL - 100% so far fits an average size ladies hand or a juveniles hand that is still growing.

MEDIUM - Small to average size man's hand, a large for a young man's hand up to what most consider a large hand. If a pair of large work gloves fits but just a little loose you still need a medium. You want it tight as it will form better to fit your hand. Remember "no one" sends back a medium needing a large.

LARGE - Large to XX Large man's hand or medium sized hand over a cold weather glove. It covers a size difference from the lower end of large to what most consider the top end of XX Large.

XXX-LARGE - Should be considered a special order for extremely large hands or to be used over a size XX large hand wearing a thick cold weather glove.
